DISCUSSION

OVERALL FINDINGS & IMPLICATIONS

Findings

- Developers tend to enter workforce with Bachelor's Degree
- Majority of developers located in US
- Most platforms that are understood and widely worked with, are also heavily desired

Implications

- Requiring higher education on job postings could be greatly hurting ability to find talent
- Consolidate developer operations to US to reduce costs without drastically hurting talent pool
- Continue to do more of the same with platform investment

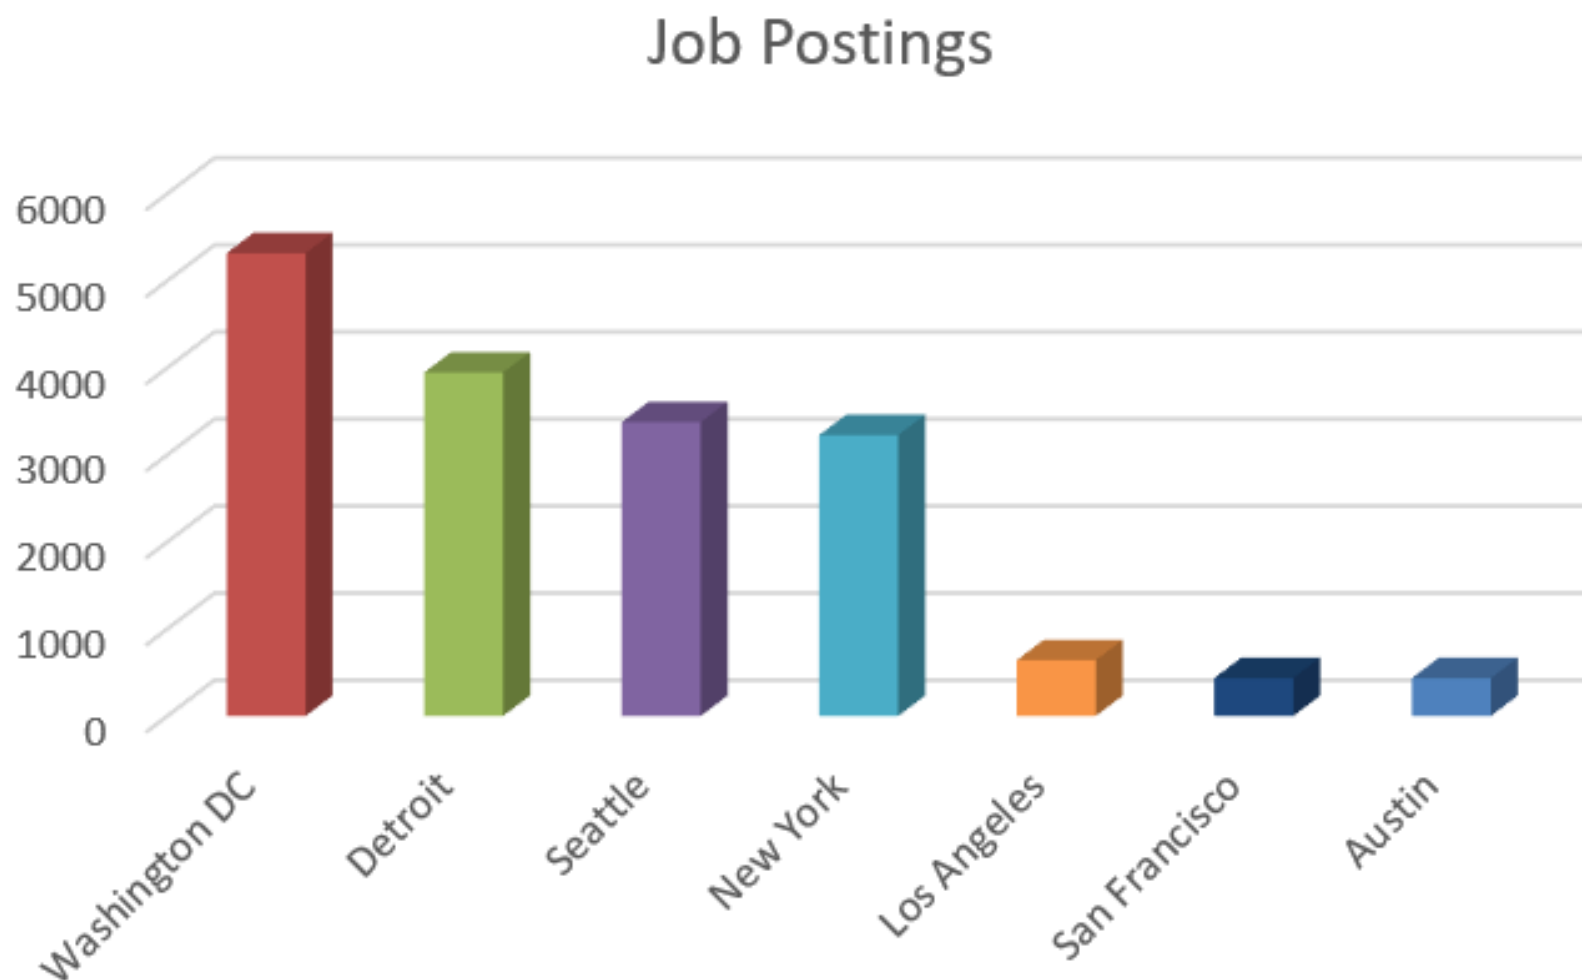

CONCLUSION

- Developers mostly fall within the Gen Z and Millennial generations
- Developers understand a wide variety of platforms, databases, languages, etc.
- Developer talent pool mostly contained to develop countries, especially USA
- Post-Grad endeavors not common amongst developers
